Pete Bliss
Suicide Postvention Response Team

Dear Pete,

As 2015 comes to an end, many of us reflect on the year prior perhaps considering those highlights or events that have had a positive impact on us. As I reflect upon 2015, I can't help but to be grateful for you and the Suicide Postvention Response Team.

Earlier this year, The Southwest Enforcement Bureau's Crisis Negotiations Team had the pleasure of hosting a training session facilitated by you. Our team benefited from this training and found the resources that were made available to us were especially appreciated. The information provided to us has been valuable to our team as we have had several incidents this year alone that required us to utilize these skills.

A compassionate yet skilled responder to persons in crisis is so crucial to a successful resolution. Your continued efforts, in providing this training, are crucial to the continued successful skill development of first responders and to peaceful resolutions.

On behalf of our team, thank you for providing this training and doing so at no cost to our agency.

Sincerely,

Sgt. Cindy Eschweiler
Southwest Enforcement Bureau
Crisis Negotiations Team
